JAY SISLER, with his unusual dog act, is returning to the Springville rodeo this year by popular request. With his Australian Shepherds, and his greyhound, Blondie, he will again entertain rodeo fans both Saturday and Sunday. Sisler has appeared in motion pictures, and television with his famous act.

COWBOYS TO COMPETE AT SPRINGVILLE

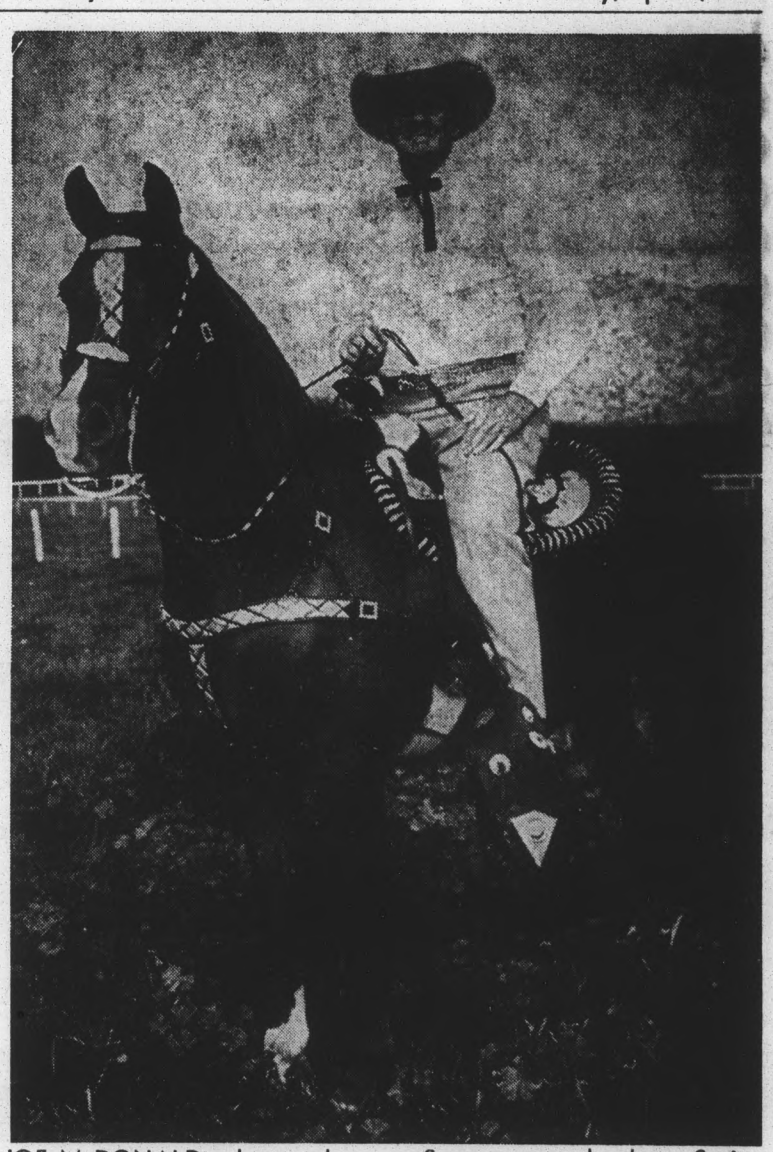

SPRINGVILLE, Apr. 9 — Professional cowboys will be competing for world championship points in the annual Springville rodeo that is set for Saturday and Sunday afternoons in the Gill arena on the Balch park road, above Springville.

And as special arena features, Wilbur Plaugher, clown, bull fighter, and world champion steer wrestler, will entertain with his new antics; Jay Sisler is returning to Springville with his popular dog act; on Saturday, Porterville's Canterbelles will present their precision drill, and on the announcer's mike will be Jack Weldon, rated as one of the nation's best.

The weekend program at Springville will open Saturday morning at 10 a.m., with a Western parade through the community, featuring bands, mounted groups, individual riders, baton twirlers and special floats.

Saturday night the Old West will come alive at a dance in the community center, with the famous

JOE McDONALD, who was born on Sycamore creek, above Springville, in 1889, will ride as grand marshal of the Western parade that will get Springville's rodeo weekend underway at 10 a.m., Saturday morning.

Trophies Added To Fair's Dairy Division By Sequoia Stock Farm And Ranchholm; Test Necessary

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 9 — Two awards have been added in the dairy division of the Porterville Fair, it was announced this week by Chester Gilbert, fair director and head of the dairy division.

Sequoia Stock Farm of Springville will give a trophy to the exhibitor of the best Holstein heifer in the fair and Ranchholm Guernsey farm will give a set of Guernsey cream pitchers to the exhibitor of the best Guernsey in the show.

Gilbert also emphasizes that all dairy animals must be tested for Bangs disease prior to the fair, or they will not be allowed on the

Strathmore Homecoming And Reunion May 2

STRATHMORE, Apr. 9—Entertainment and a barbecued steak dinner will be features of annual Strathmore Homecoming and Alumni association reunion set for May 2, with Elzy Luna as general chairman.

Other features of the program will include Little League baseball, a reunion of Strathmore high school alumni and a dance at the Veterans' Memorial building.

Organizations cooperating in arrangements are: Strathmore chamber of commerce, Strathmore Town and Country club, Strathmore Lions club, the Carnation club, the Strathmore Veterans' club and Neighbors of Woodcraft.

JOE McDONALD, SPRINGVILLE NATIVE WILL RIDE SATURDAY MORNING AS GRAND MARSHAL OF RODEO PARADE

SPRINGVILLE, Apr. 9 — In 1889, Joe McDonald was born on Sycamore creek, above Springville; just 70 years later — next Saturday morning at 10 a.m., to be exact — McDonald will ride as Grand Marshal at the head of Springville's annual western parade that will officially open this foothill community's annual rodeo weekend.

McDonald, now retired, worked as a boy in the lumber camps of the Mountain Home country; as a ranger he has ridden over virtually every foot of the Sequoia National forest area; in the "good old days" he traveled by horse-drawn stage from Springville to Porterville, then on to California Hot Springs.

In World War I, McDonald served in France with the 20th Engineers, escaping aboard a British destroyer when his troop ship, the Cousin Herb, and his Tradin' Post gang, providing music and entertainment.

Rodeo fans will see some of the nation's top broncs in the Johnny Jackson bucking string, that features "Spotted Fever", voted by professional cowboys as one of the 10 toughest buckers in the nation.

And in the string will also be "Mr. Red", and "Red Devil", two broncs with nothing but meanness in their hearts where cowboys are concerned. And in Blue Bell No. 28, and No. 21, rodeo fans will see two of the toughest bulls in the rodeo arena today.

Champion cowboys are now signing for the rodeo, with headquarters at Gifford's, in Springville. Among those listed this morning were:

Dale Smith, national team roping champion in 1956-57; Lawson Fore, one of the West's top competitors; Steve Johnson, bareback champion of Jackson rodeos last year; Al Gomez, ranked third in national championship team roping ratings; Barney Willis, consistently in the top 10 steer wrestlrs; Wayne Cline, last year's Jackson rodeo calf roping champion; Art Cook, prominent bareback and bull rider; Dick Caldwell, also a bareback and bull rider.

JACK WELDON, who will be behind the mike at annual RCA-approved Springville Rodeo, Saturday and Sunday, in the Gill arena, just off the Balch park road above Springville.

And former Porterville College student, Bob Wiley, will compete in calf roping. Wiley is rapidly moving to the top in this rodeo specialty. Carl Mendez, former rodeo champion, will serve as a judge.

Riding as grand marshal of the Western parade, Saturday morning, will be Joe McDonald, a native of the Springville area; queen of the rodeo is Lynne Woods, Porterville high school student and a resident of Springville.

The Springville rodeo is sponsored by a non-profit group of Springville civic organizations. Valley residents are invited to spend Saturday and Sunday in the Springville foothills, with plenty of space around the rodeo arena for family picnics.

Food and beverages will be available on the grounds during both days of the rodeo.

Community Concert Campaign Will Establish Next Season's Program

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 6 — The Porterville Community Concert association will hold its annual membership drive next week from Monday, April 13, through Saturday, April 18, according to Mrs. Ralph Aldridge, association president.

A dinner for officers and sales captains will be held Sunday afternoon at 4:30 at Prandini's to go over final details for the campaign. Miss Dorothy Donahue of Community Concerts, Inc., will be a speaker at the dinner and will discuss the artists and the campaign during the meeting.

The Community Concert association holds only one membership campaign a year. At this time renewals of memberships are made and new memberships sold. Mrs. Aldridge stressed that after the close of the campaign, no more memberships would be available, as it is necessary for the board of directors to meet and decide on the series for the coming yeer.

"The board has been fortunate in contracting for the Vienna Boys Choir for the coming season," Mrs. Aldridge stated. "These boys are outstanding favorites wherever they appear." She added that the board considers the members' tastes in contracting for the entire program.

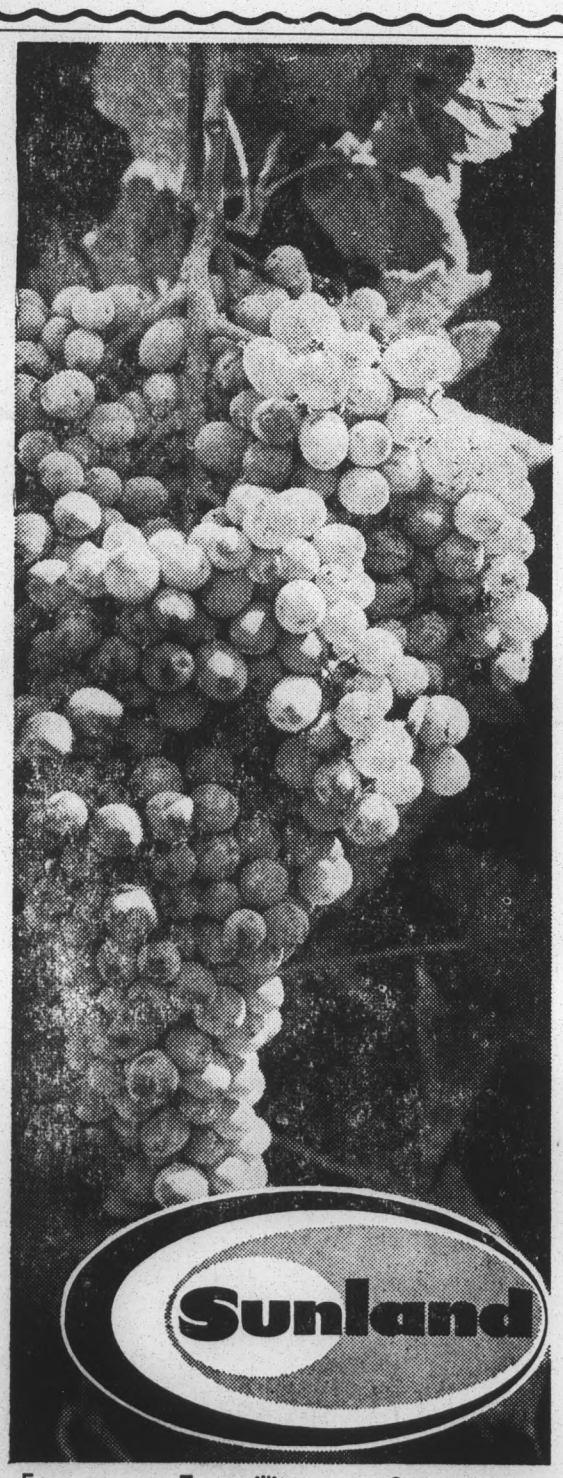

During the campaign, headquarters will be set up at Hodgson's Furniture on North Main street. Should any present member be overlooked in the drive or if those wishing to join are overlooked, Mrs. Aldridge urges them to contact campaign headquarters, where membership cards will be available.

Prevent Mildew with Sunland Dusting Sulphur

If you can see mildew in your vineyard, the damage has been done. Prevent mildew before it starts with Sunland dusting sulphur. A little mildew goes a long way in ruining a profitable grape crop.

For safe, sure protection, use Sunland dusting sulphur when the weather is warm enough to fume the sulphur. For best results, light applications are recommended. It may pay to add Sunland Malathion or Sunland DDT for control of leafhoppers or thrips.

For a profit-building dusting program, see your local Sunland Field Representative, or call:

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Better Health Through Knowledge

- Baby's Flat Feet
- Arthritis Of Spine

Q. Is there a right and wrong way to teach a child to walk?
A. Most children do pretty well with little more help than handholding. What youngsters walk on during the learning process may be more important than how they are helped. A Washington, D. C., doctor believes that learning to walk on a smooth, flat surface may lead to flat feet. He watched barefoot Indian babies toddle around on pebbly ground and saw how their feet responded to Mother Earth's carpet. Taking this cue, the doctor made a play pen pad studded with knobs to simulate pebbles. When babies are placed on such a pad, the toes make a grasping movement. The foot is unable to turn outward and tends to toe in. This helps form a good arch. Children who learn to walk on such a surface would very likely develop good feet just as do primitive people who almost always have perfect feet and excellent gait.

Q. "I have had arthritis in the spine for over 20 years. I also have allergy trouble. Would a change in climate help?"—A N. J. reader.
A. It might help but where to go is a problem. Altitude may be a factor in some allergies but one person may do better at high altitudes—another worse. The situation is about the same in the case of arthritis. Some arthritic sufferers are helped by a change of climate, especially when they move to a dry, warm climate such as that of Arizona or New Mexico; others may do better in warm, moist conditions prevalent in Florida and similar places. If your doctor advises a change it would be wise to go for a trial period. Unfortunately, it may take as long as a year to tell whether there has been any benefit.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

News Of The SPRINGVILLE COMMUNITY

By WINNIE GAGE

Recent supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herbert were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Newbern Brown and son Arthur, of Porterville. The Larsons are moving to Burliegh, Idaho. Later in the evening about 24 friends dropped in to give the Larsons a going away surprise party.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sanders were in Oakland a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Evans and son are being transferred from Moorehouse Fish Hatchery to Moccasin State Fish Hatchery.

Tule River Houndsmen Association will hold a Field Trial on Sunday, May 26th on the Otis Lawson property on Rancho Rio or Bear Creek road.

The Valley Handweavers Guild met in the Friendship Hall of the Methodist Church with potluck lunch at one o'clock. There was a very nice display of hand-woven articles. Enjoying the day were Mmes. Florence Smith, Stella King, Edna Hinchenbach, Lois Scott, Marilou Geulker, Hulda Nielsen, Ruth James, Marian Lopes, Thyra Nelson, R. Neff, Cora Kyte, Erma Merzke of Delano, Mrs. Nina Burnham and granddaughter Linda Burnham of Baldwin Park, Verona Pierstorff of Taft, Mable Radner of Cucamonga, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haverstock of Visalia, Betty Stephen of Wasco, Myrta Blackman and Herma Templeton of Porterville, Rose Haberstich, Olive Norwood, Elsie Oberzfell and Edna Armstrong of McFarland, Edna Barrett and Ione Hodges of Three Rivers, Mauicia Bartlett of Kaweah; also attending from Springville were Mmes. Ena Lyman, Carmah Hodges, Edith Fox, Irma Stevenson and Winnie Gage.

Several local ladies viewed the display in the afternoon. Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Myrta Blackman in Porterville.

Dedication of the Clemmie Gill School of Science and Conservation for Tulare County ground site was held Monday, April 6 with over 120 people in attendance. A guided tour of the grounds was made, followed by a dinner of chili beans, cabbage slaw, hot buttered French bread, coffee and cake.

Mrs. Clemmie Gill gave 35 acres of land to the SCICON school. She was unable to attend. Mrs. Gertrude Gill accepted the vote of thanks.

Introductions were made by Lawrence Elrod, superintendent of Orosi school. The school is for 6th graders for outside education and has proved very successful in other locations in California.

J. Post Williams was represented by Leon Johnson. Allan Grant of Visalia is executive chairman of the committee for pilot school.

Cecil Brooks, assistant superintendend of Dinuba schools, chairman of school site committee, Clyde Simpson, superintendent of Springville, Charles Rich, of the Tulare county superintendent's office.

Hilda Barton told of last year's school session east of Fresno.

A vote of thanks was given Allan Root for building roads to the site; also to Earlimart, Terra Bella and Orosi schools for preparation of food.

Others introduced were Superintendent of Schools, from Fresno, Louie Burnett, Dr. Andrew Rippy, Fenton Lawer and Earnie Frazer, Art Purcell of Tulare, Roland Killian, president of the Soil Conservation district.

United States Senator Thomas H. Kuchel has been named ranking Republican member of the Irrigation-Reclamation unit of the Interior and Insular Affairs committee.

4-H Events To Be Planned At Vandalia

VANDALIA, Apr. 9 — The April meeting of the Vandalia 4-H Club will be held on Thursday, April 16 at the Vandalia School at 7:30 p.m. Plans will be discussed for the 4-H Carnival and Barbecue at Mooney Grove on April 18, the 4-H Fair in May, and 4-H Summer camp.

THE OLD DAYS

NOVEMBER, 1900

TULARE — The stock exhibited at the Fair is rather slim. The Pioneer Land company of Porterville makes an exhibit of Hereford cattle and there are a few Jersey cattle on the grounds. The exhibit of swine is somewhat better. There is a fair display of poultry in the pavilion.

A. G. Schultz, of Porterville, is well pleased with the citrus exhibit. He is a member of the citrus committee of the fair.

VISALIA—The big football game in San Francisco between Stanford and Berkeley was witnessed by 17,000 people and the playing was very even until Traeger, left tackle for Stanford, won the game by a place kick from the 30-yard line, making the only score of the game.

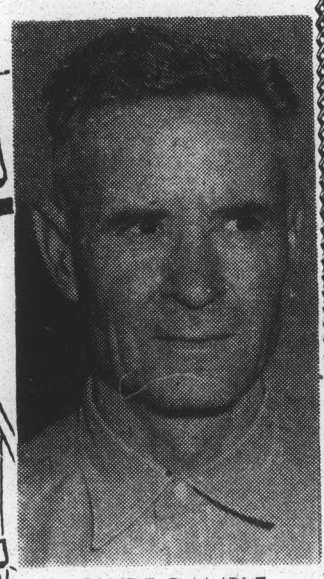

Traeger is from Porterville and while the sympathy of Visalia was generally with the University team, yet there is satisfaction in the fact that a Tulare county boy did the trick for the Cardinals.

The most horrible catastrophe that ever occurred in San Francisco resulted from the crowding of several hundred people on the roof of the Pacific Glass Works to watch the game. The roof caved in, precipitating 100 people into the boiling vats and red hot furnaces below. Thirteen have died.

OUR TOWN

By Gardner (Bud) Wheeler

IF, SOMETIME, SOME LITERARY genius should get around to writing "The Life and Times of Bud Wheeler", looming large would be a chapter on "I Was A Teen-age Chaperone". This was an unsought honor on our part and all started when an assorted group of angular teen-agers announced that they would like to have a party on our premises. On taking roll call of this motley group, drooped in and about the furniture in our house, we discovered a couple that belong to us, so agreed to the rough outlines of the plot.

THIS, OF COURSE, PROVES that one should always pay attention to what's being said within earshot, even if it's the semi-literate babblings of teen-agers, for the next thing we knew, a party was set up and we were nominated for the unwilling role of chaperone. A chaperone is roughly a cross between Frankenstein and the monster from outer space, and according to party-goers of the younger generation, includes all the less desirable features of the afore-mentioned characters.

CAME THE NIGHT OF THE party. Rugs were rolled back, revealing many articles that had been lost some time previously. Lights were dimmed. Refreshment were prepared and the old house quivered with expectancy. It quivered worse later, as teen-agers arrived with all the aplomb of a herd of elephants in the canebrakes. Your favorite chaperone retired to the kitchen to await developments.

THEY WERE NOT LONG in coming. The record player roared and thumps and screeches emanated from the front of the house. Some off-key genius insisted on playing the piano. Couples jitterbugged or stood still and called it dancing in fine disregard for the beat and noise. The lights flashed off and on like lightening in a tornado. Occasionally, your favorite chaperone cruised through the premises issuing such statements as "Turn down the record player," "Don't jump on the furniture," or "Leave those lights alone." This caused much merriment among one and all, and the party-goers would glance at one another as if to say, "How'd he get unchained."

WELL, THE PARTY WORE ON; a gruelling test between our nerves and the clock. Finally, the end came. The noise abated to a roar. All politely said goodnight, stomped out and the silence was like a vacuum. Reports trickled in for several days, that the party was the "most", "best ever" and one thing and another. We were honored to know that we were also considered an excellent chaperone.

THAT WAS SEVERAL PARTIES past. We have now won our spurs and can listen to the crash of a lamp without the flicker of an eye. We have also discovered many useful hints in the art of chaperonage. One should come equipped with a baseball bat, a lantern and a megaphone; all for self-evident reasons. The state of mind is also important. Patience rates high, but most of all, we find a good memory very helpful in times of trial and trevail during a party. We then remember that we were probably no better or no worse than the present generation of teen-agers. A little delving into the past makes a chaperone properly humble — but don't tell the kids. We have our honor to uphold.

RED CROSS HAS $6,067 AS DRIVE ENDS

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 9 — Red Cross campaign has brought $6,067 in the Porterville area during the current drive that is now ending, Howard Beard, fund chairman, reported this week.

It is expected that additional funds will come in from the various community areas surrounding Porterville.

John Baumgartner Jr., of San Martin, has been named chairman of the recently-formed recreation committee of the California Cattlemen's association.

ROCKWELL ACCOUNTANT SPEAKS TO CLASS

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 9 — Robert Erickson, chief accountant for the Rockwell Manufacturing Co., recently addressed members of the Future Business Leaders of America club at the Porterville High School.

Erickson, who was visiting the local branch from the company's main office in Pennsylvania, stressed the importance of "application" while in school to get the most from their studies. He also explained procedures by which new employees are introduced to office routines and selected for advancement in the Rockwell company.

We Only Heard
By BILL RODGERS

INTERPRETATION OF election results is always colored by the personal opinions of the interpretor, but when a comparatively heavy vote is cast, and that vote runs as strongly as did Tuesday's city election in Porterville, a successful candidate can only assume that there is a certain amount of dissatisfaction with, shall we say, the status quo.

WORKING ON this assumption,

Bill Thompson

and taking into account the statements made during the campaign, we plan to get to work immediately when we are officially seated as a councilman.

BILL THOMPSON SAFETY COUNCIL BANQUET SPEAKER

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 9 — "The voice heard 'round the world" in such productions as "Lady and the Tramp" and "Peter Pan" will be heard in the Porterville Union High cafeteria on April 17, when William H. (Bill) Thompson appears at the Porterville Safety Council banquet.

Thompson, manager of public service for Union Oil company, is also the creator of the "Mr. Wimple" and "Old Timer" characters on the Fibber McGee and Molly radio show.

Arrangements for his visit to Porterville were made by L. J. Hamilton, of Union Oil company.

Thompson spent 10 years with Walt Disney as a writer-actor on cartoon productions covering safety, fire prevention and traffic safety. Among the voices he created were those of the White Rabbit in "Alice in Wonderlant", the bumble-headed Mr. Smee in "Peter Pan" and most of the dog voices, including "Jock" in "Lady and the Tramp".

Now full time with Union Oil, Thompson will speak here on "Juvenile Decency", emphasizing the good being done by at least 97% of teenagers in their communities.

Thompson is a nationally recognized authority on youth, having voluntarily devoted most of his time during the past 20 years to helping youth. In 1958, he was appointed a national director of the Boys Clubs of America at the request of the Honorable Herbert Hoover, board chairman. In addition, Thompson has been area chairman of the Boys Clubs of America and actively participated in activities of the Y.M.C.A., Boy Scouts, Catholic Youth organizations and the Jewish Big Brothers movement.

Students Make Geology Trip

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 9 — Spots of geological interest in the Los Angeles area were visited by members of the Porterville College geology class during a recent one-day field trip conducted by Burl Cuffman, instructor. Students attending were Mitzi Sanders, Martha Smith, Vesta Tomicich, Curtis Brown, Jack Huffman, John Bakich, Douglas Morford, Eugene Mullins, Sam Paguia and Matt Pickett.

Lassie Julie Sequoia, a registered Holstein on the Springville ranch of Mark L. and Bruce W. Borror, produced 150,333 pounds of milk and 5,500 pounds of butterfat in 3,055 days of official test.

First Aid Class At Springville

SPRINGVILLE, Apr. 9—A first aid class for the standard and advanced Red Cross certificates will begin at Springville on April 18th under the joint sponsorship of the Porterville Red Cross chapter and the Porterville Evening college. Robert Otto of the Porterville High School staff will instruct the class, which will meet from 8 a.m. until noon on successive Saturdays at the Martin Memorial school auditorium until the required hours for the two certificates are completed.

College Group To Present Play

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 9 — The celebrated Broadway hit, "No Time for Sergeants", will open April 10, at the Porterville Barn theater for a two-weekend engagement. The play will be presented by the Porterville College drama department under the direction of LeRoy King.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

Water development, which kept both the 1957 and 1958 sessions boiling, is again a hot issue in the current Legislature. Members from both the north and the south have introduced a considerable variety of measures intended to end the stalemate between the two opposite ends of our state.

The difference between the two areas arose from the fact that the water hungry south feels that a constitutional amendment is necessary to protect its rights to water from projects which will be constructed in the north, while the north feels that such an amendment might conceivably commit its own needed supply. But the legislative skirmishing around this basic issue ended up by involving everything from approriations for the Feather River Project to studies of the water resources of the Eel River.

So far in this session the question of new taxes and the size of the budget have tended to steal the limelight from the water issue but nevertheless much legislative work is being done on the latter. A basic issue in the controversey, whether or not to preserve the $190,000,000 investment fund for water development, is in the process of being decided. A bill to utilize the fund for that purpose has passed the Assembly and is now before the Senate.

One significant aspect of the situation is the number of bills which have been introduced which would establish county-wide water agencies in several northern counties. Such measures are regarded by many observers as being a sort of "home rule" answer to demands of the south for a constitutional amendment.

The Governor's recommendations for water development legislation have been expanded since the session opened. Originally, his program called for a $138,000,000 appropriation for construction of the Feather River Project and a $500,000 bond issue to finance the distribution system to carry water to the south. The appropriation request has been increased to approximately $162,000,000.

Recently, the size of the bond issue recommended has been increased to $960,000,000. A bill embodying that amount has been introduced, and bears the names of a majority of Senate members. Introduced the same day by a group of Senators from central and northern districts was a constitutional amendment calling for a $2,000,000,000 bond issue, proceeds of which would be allocated on a priority basis.

Other constitutional amendments relating to enforcement of water contracts have also been introduced. Their intent is to give the south the assurance it desires of a firm water supply.

Because of the many bills introduced, and their wide variety of purpose, it will be possible for us to tackle the water problem from many angles. Whether as individuals we legislators represent northern or southern districts —we are in position to work for their best interests in considering proposed water legislation.

All of us are aware that a solution to the water problem must be reached at this session. Though so far no major bill relating to the problem has been enacted, the signs of progress are encouraging, and it seems certain that a sound program will eventually be worked out.

They say spring in the Central Valley provides the world's finest growing weather. We're sure this is true because no where else do the aphis grow so quickly, the weeds look so lush, or the days grow so hot. Of course, there are fringe benefits to this in that plants and people often thrive under the same conditions.

With recent improvements in insecticides we've been able to eliminate many of these problems along with a few of the people. There are some that feel more people should be eliminated but we're against this philosophy. After all we need people, so there will be someone to enjoy the plants, purchase the insecticides, and cuss the nurserymen.

These new insecticides such as Malathion for aphis and Karathane for mildew, are the real stuff. For better than anything of previous years and reasonably safe to use too. You still shouldn't drink them out of the bottle unless taxes have got you down but safe enough when diluted. You no longer need to let your wife spray it first to find out if it's safe for you to use.

The Can Can Carnival is still in progress all over the state and will continue through this weekend. We have sold all the Azaleas but still have many other honest bargains. This should include Hibiscus specially priced during the last three days along with a surprise or two. We may both be surprised because we haven't gone south after these yet! Come, have a look, on "E" Street just north of Pearson Pump.

Let 'er Buck

By CASEY TIBBS

FORT PIERRE, S. D. — From the time I got big enough to look over the fence post I kept hearin' how cowboys were different from other men. How they were bigger and tougher and smarter'n anybody else.

I believed it, too. Believed it right up to the first time I made over $500 a year. Then they REALLY made a believer out of me.

There ain't nothin' in the world can make a civilian out of a cowpoke quicker'n a 1040 Form. Right then, he starts puttin' on his pants one leg at a time.

Every cowboy in the country is doin' just as much sweatin' over his income tax this week as the grey flannel guy on Madison Avenue.

My accountant's knockin' himself out right now and keepin' me up nights too.

He can't make up his mind whether I'm gonna get a deduction on the saddle that was stolen out of my trophy room or I'm gonna have to pay taxes on it 'cause I had it for six months before it was stolen.

I know one cowpoke who darned near moved in with the tax collectors. He was tryin' to convince him that his belt buckles weren't taxable income. They were just to keep his jeans from fallin' down.

The guys I really feel for, though are the "splitters." It takes a tax man longer to figure out WHO should be taxed than WHAT should be taxed.

A lot of waddies split a per cent of their winnings with each other in a strange round-robin that's supposed to save entry fees and expenses.

The system works like this:

Two or more pokes enter a rodeo together. If only one of 'em wins, he pays the nut — or total expenses—at that rodeo for everybody. Some just split a straight fourth of what they win with another twister.

Kid Fletcher was prob'ly the champion splitter of all rodeo cowboys.

Kid was a wild and woolly waddie from down around El Reno, Okla. He really musta had a problem figurin' out his splits and taxes every year 'bout this time.

They used to cut him up wors'n a boarding house pie.

Kid was a fellow who believed in superstitions pretty strong. He had it figured out that it was mighty lucky for him to split with a lot of guys . . . 'stead of just one or two.

Only trouble was that Fletch was a top hand and won almost everywhere he went. When it came time to settle up, he was often caught splittin' about 200 per cent and had to borrow money to pay off the split-holders.

(Guess I shouldn't be talkin' about him . . . I remember, now, I got caught in this storm a couple of times myself!)

Money never meant much to Kid Fletcher and the best memory I got of him is the first time I ever saw him.

It was out in Burwell, Neb. Kid stepped out of a local pool hall and saw a friend of his lighting a cigarette.

Ol' Fletch just twitched up a $20 bill, stuck it over the match flame and lit a cigarette for himself.

When he looked up, I was standin'there with my mouth gaped open like a root cellar.

"Don't worry kid," he shrugged "I got money to burn."

I found out he did, all right. But, I've been wondering ever since whose per cent he was burnin' that day.

If you liked the telecast of the Lubbock Rodeo March 28th, a special thanks ought to go to Lex Connelly, secretary - treasurer of the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Lex wrote the script and did all the directing on the show — the first time a rodeo was ever telecast strictly as a sports event.

As a boy he recalls the sensatiotional accident in 1901 that sent the Kyle steam engine off the road and into a deep canyon along Frazier grade, while hauling lumber from Mountain Home.

Joe and Mrs. McDonald, the former May Eva Lindley, still reside at Springville. They have three sons, Loren, of Porterville; Don, of Oakland, and Les, of Redondo Beach.

With the parade leading off weekend events, annual RCA rodeo will be staged in the Gill arena on the Balch Park road, starting at 1 p.m., Saturday and Sunday; a western dance, featuring Cousin Herb and his Tradin' Post gang, is set for Saturday night.

Agriculture

a noon-day luncheon held at Gang Sue's.

The livestock specialist told the area producers that the once powerful voice of agriculture no longer commands the listeners it once did, particularly in the state capitol where the lawmakers are now tuned in to a new and much louder one — that of labor.

And, not only are they being heard he said, but, their demands are being met, demands that he believes will prove costly to farmers. Among these he listed, the minimum wage bill, the so-called fair employment act, increased welfare benefits and higher pension payments.

"Now, don't misunderstand me," he cautioned, "we are not against labor, racial groups, indigents, or senior citizens, but, these items represent fixed costs that eventually will have to be passed on to the consumer, and you can bet who they will blame for their higher food bill."

"No", he continued, "we have no quarrel with labor, although labor appears to have one with us. In fact, you get the idea in Sacramento that they would like to stomp us into the ground."

"And they may do just that", he added, "now that they're in the drivers' seat."

How did they get there? "Well," said Van Vleck, "we voted them in last November and we'll have to live with the mistake."

At least Tulare county people didn't make the same mistake, the livestock representative said. His reference was to Senator J. Howard Williams who the San Franciscan classed as not only one of California's best Senators, but also a true friend of agriculture.

"I wish", said he, "that I could say the same for your assemblyman."

Others who spoke were, J. Edgar Dick, secretary of the state cattlemen's organization, Mack McDonald of the American Hereford association, and Dr. E. S. Chastain of the Bureau of Livestock Disease Control.
